Dr. Edwin Hernandez : Entrepreneurial Activities

Companies

The involvement of Dr. Edwin Hernandez starts in 1995 when he founded COMPUNET, one of the first ISPs in Honduras. As an entrepreneur we can list some of the companies he has been involved with:

The name of the company is officially EGLA CORP but is dba EGLA COMMUNICATIONS. EGLA was created in 2004 but it was not until 2009 that technological goals and innovation were set as final goals . I considere EGLA a startup in Boca Raton, FL. In fact, EGLA sells, licenses, and manages all operations for the MEVIA/MEDIAMPLIFY Platform, MobileCAD and MobileIPP, and other intellectual property ventures. We also provide Expert Witness work and patent monetization. Additionally, EGLA runs an incubator called the EGLAVATOR.

The EGLAVATOR, a technology incubator/accelerator in the heart of Boca Raton, FL

We currently have over 10 startups and technologies that we serve:

OUR TENANTS

EGLAVATOR – TECH INCUBATOR

We also provide our projects with support for cloud-based related and software-defined networks, NFV, and infrastructure.

Our promise:

"Bring Cloud to Cable TV to any provider of music content and television creating a multiplatform experience that includes Cable TV systems. "

MEVIA is Cloud to CABLE TV.

COMPUNET S. de R. L.

This was the first company created by Dr. Edwin. COMPUNET stands for Computers and Networks. In operation from 1996 - 2009, COMPUNET was one of the first ISP in Tegucigalpa, Honduras. ISP stands for Internet Service Providers, a dial-up offering with hundreds of subscribers in Tegucigalpa, Honduras. Initially COMPUNET started as a computer business only, assembling computer parts and selling PCs, became an ISP with leased lines and under CONATEL's license. Now COMPUNET is no longer in operation. However, COMPUNET pioneered in teaching setting up one of the first multimedia classrooms with more than 20+ desktops teaching internet access and computing skills to many NGOs, communities, and in general to many new internet users in Tegucigalpa, Honduras.
